Library Ground-Breaking

Sunday, March 10, 1968, was a great day for residents of Greenbelt. Ground was broken for a new branch of the Prince Georges County Memorial Library. When completed, the new branch will replace the present one, which is located in a small room of the Center Elementary School. The new library will contain 35,000 square feet of space and will have a capacity of 125,000 books. Located near the Center School, the new building was designed by the Riverdale architectural firm of Walton and Madden and will be built at a cost of $796,200 by the Avery Construction Company of Edmonston, Md.

Steep Incline at Klein's to be Finally Corrected

by Mary Smith

Work has begun on re-grading the clay slope at the eastern end of Beltway Plaza in an effort to control erosion of the embankment, which rises steeply between S. Klein's parking lot and the adjoining Board of Education land. According to engineering plans agreed upon between the owners of Beltway Plaza, (First National Realty), the Board of Education, and the P.G. County Office of Building Inspections and Permits, the slope will be re-graded to lessen the acuteness of its angle, and the retaining wall at its base will be partially relocated. The cost of the work will be borne by First National Realty.

The original embankment was a grass-covered clay slope with an average angle of 45 degrees; melting winter snows and heavy rains have taken their toll over the past 5 years, causing deep erosion and loss of the grass surface. At times the clay of the embankment has overflowed the present retaining wall and deposited itself on the S. Klein parking lot.

As any student of geometry knows, the angle of a slope may be reduced in either of two ways—by cutting back into the land at the top, or by extending the slope further out at its base. According to BIP director, James S. Baker, both methods are to be used to solve the problem in this case. At the base of the slope below the Board of Education school bus maintenance building, the retaining wall is to be moved out about 30 feet, and the fill of the slope redistributed behind it. On either side of the maintenance building, the top of the embankment will be cut back about 30 feet, and soil removed to make a slope of about 30 degrees.

Some surface soil will be removed from the entire area of the new slope, to be replaced by a granular material (probably a mixture of sand and gravel) which will allow for better drainage. The top of the slope, on Board of Education property, will be drained by means of a trough which will collect surface water and channel it into paved swales that will run laterally down the slope and into the sewer system. Finally, the entire surface of the slope will be either sodded or seeded. Work on the embankment is expected to take most of the summer.

JAYCEES SEEK OUT YOUNG EDUCATOR

Plans to select the outstanding young educator of Greenbelt have been announced by David Conley of the Jaycees.

"Our search is part of a nationwide Jaycee program," said Conley, "to spotlight the achievements and dedication of professional educators, both male and female, between the ages of 21 and 35."

Educators of the first through twelfth grade levels will be considered. One nominee will be selected by each school principal in the area.

Nominations will be judged locally by a panel of civic leaders. The local winner will be honored at a special awards banquet.

Local winners from throughout the state will be eligible for a state competition, which will determine delegates to a national Outstanding Young Educator Program.

Progress Report On E. Roosevelt Memorial

Progress is rapidly being made on the Eleanor Roosevelt Memorial, Jim Smith reported to city council on March 18. Land-fill dirt has been brought in by the city to level off the terrain and a stone base is being constructed around the 80-year old oak tree on Crescent road which is to serve as a memorial. A $250 bronze plaque, 21½" long and 14" deep, has been ordered from a Pennsylvania manufacturer.

The memorial tree is located between the Baptist Church and Lastner Lane. A platform located at the tree site served as a focal point for visiting dignitaries who wished to have a panoramic view of the new town of Greenbelt during its construction stage. Mrs. Roosevelt was one of those who surveyed the project from the platform.

The memorial will be on a site 10-foot square enclosed by a decorative wrought iron fence. One problem encountered has been solved due to the generous cooperation of Robert Umberger of Lynbrook St. It was found that part of the 10-foot square site fell on his property (the rest is on city-owned property.) Umberger consented to give an easement to the city for the Memorial.

The Women's Club, under the chairmanship of Carrie Harper, is sponsoring the project. Additional funds are still needed to complete the project.

SHL School PTA

The Springhill Lake Elementary School P.T.A. will hold its next meeting, Tuesday evening, April 2, at 8 p.m. in the school multi-purpose room. This is a most important meeting for the entire membership, as election run-offs will be held for the offices of second vice president and corresponding secretary. Also on the agenda will be the presentation of the proposed amendments to the By-Laws which must be voted upon. Refreshments will be served at the conclusion of the business session. All parents are urged to attend the meeting.

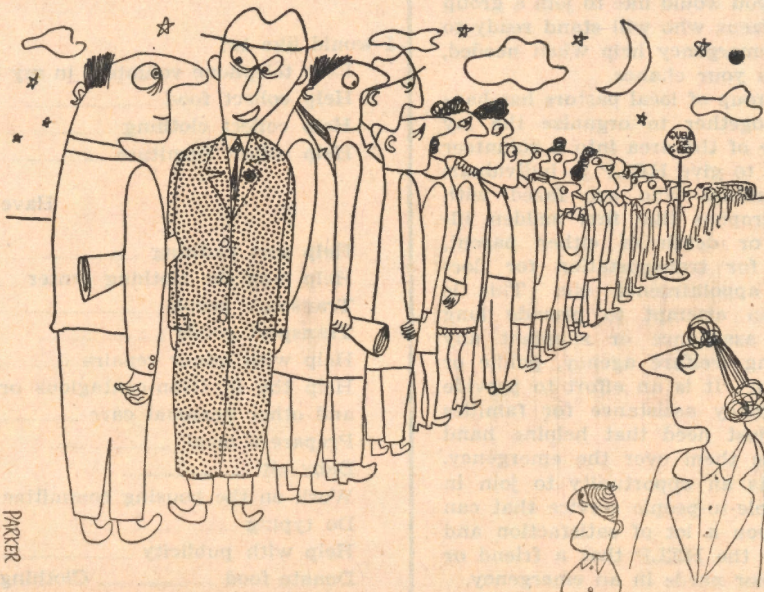

'Viet Nam - The Quiet War'

At the monthly breakfast meeting of the Men's Club of Mishkan Torah (JCC), to be held at the Greenbelt Firehouse 10 a.m. Sunday, April 7, George Beauchamp will speak on "Viet Nam - The Quiet War." A resident of Greenbelt, George Beauchamp has worked for two years with the Agency for International Development in Viet Nam, organizing the care and resettlement of refugees. Preceding this talk, Rabbi Maurice Weisenberg will briefly speak on "Pidyon Haben" (redemption of the first-born). Members and nonmembers are cordially welcome.

CITY MAPS FOR SALE

Four maps are for sale in the city offices to interested residents at printing cost. One is an up-to-date street map of Greenbelt, which also lists the names of principal developments in the city. This is available in two different sizes.

The other map, also available in two sizes, is a plat map, which shows lot lines. This map comes in two scales - 1" to 200' and 1" to 500'.

"No, this isn't the line for license plates — we're buying tickets to the News Review Ball."

Speaking Sternly . . . by David Stern

Pacifying Our Backyard

Once more, it is springtime. Once more bright green sprigs of chickweed pop up all over the lawn and creeper vines snake down from the forest under cover of unswept leaves, and we once more get ready for the annual battle against nature.

At the end of our backyard, past the Rockpile - built up of Maryland sandstone, gathered patiently from all over the yard - stands a little clump of daffodils, waving defiantly in the cold breeze. This is our furthestmost outpost; beyond lies the twilight zone, where the forest takes over and where the battle between man and poison ivy swings indecisively this way and that every summer.

It has not been easy to maintain that outpost. Only last week we had to rake clear the space around it and to trim back the ivy tendrils which have managed to creep within scant inches of its perimeter. As we stand on the porch and watch those yellow blooms, we know very well that another major attack is in the making even now, and we pray and hope that our Sears Roebuck hoe, the big red one, will be equal to the task of repelling it, if and when it materializes.

Closer to our domestic enclave, things at first sight appear to be more settled. The lawn is emerging from its winter dormancy and once more, green is its dominant color. Alas for we know very well that it is not only the Kentucky bluegrass that is waking up, but also the quackgrass, goosegrass, crabgrass, foxtail, bermudagrass and other weedy grasses that every year try their best to subvert our lawn. This is one place where our massive tools of gardening - rakes and hoes and suchlike - do us little good, for those other grasses sprout up right among the bluegrass, and can hardly be told apart until it is too late.

The only way to win here is to get down on hands and knees and patiently search the area tuft by tuft. Every summer, we have spent many weekends conducting search and destroy missions all over the lawn. Unfortunately, although we have pulled out a lot of crabgrass in this manner, we have lacked the manpower to maintain constant protection of the searched areas, and invariably, when we came back a month later, we have found them as badly infiltrated as before.

Part of the blame, it must be said, lies with our neighbors - especially those on one side. While we have scrupulously tried to police our side of the lawn, on their side the chickweed, dandelion and crabgrass have found a sanctuary, from which they can, with impunity, scatter their seeds onto our lawn. We have complained many times, with little effect. Lately, we have even escalated to secretly sneaking over under cover of darkness and uprooting our neighbor's tallest weeds; there has been no complaints about this so far, and we take this as one more bit of evidence proving that he really doesn't care what happens in his lawn.

This year, some members of our family have begun to protest that we are spending too much time and effort in the garden, and too little at home. They have even suggested that we retreat to our domestic enclave and let the garden itself choose in a democratic manner what it prefers to grow. This, of course, is completely out of the question. After all, we have a commitment to our neighborhood to keep up the appearance of our garden, and if we back out now, where would our credibility be?

It would be foolish to try to predict how many more years we shall have to fight this uphill battle, though we have faith that we are slowly winning. Two, perhaps no more than three years from now, we hope, the attrition among the crabgrass will have reached the point where we no longer will have to defoliate it with crabgrass killer, a procedure we have always disliked, since we know very well that, inevitably, innocent bluegrass plants often get hit by it as well.

Yes, we think time is on our side, but we are not letting our efforts slow down. As one famous gardener once said, "Successful lawn care grows from well-sharpened lawnmower blades."

City Notes

Under an arrangement with the contractor who is presently excavating for the new Greenbelt library, the city expects to receive 20,000 square yards of fill dirt, enough to complete the filling behind the dam at the lake to the desired grade. The Public Works Dept. hopes to have that area filled, graded, and seeded to grass before the summer is over. It will be left further undeveloped and will be accessible for sandlot baseball, scrimmage football and other recreational uses. Eventually the city hopes to place additional fill to grade-level on the land closest to Kenilworth and behind the projected Municipal Services Building.

The Public Works Dept. poured concrete footings this week around the Roosevelt Memorial Tree on Crescent Rd. and set out the blocks of granite stone which a stone mason, hired by the Greenbelt Woman's Club, will later place upon these footings. An ornamental wrought-iron fence will then be set into place upon the granite blocks.

The city crew also constructed two (out of four) experimental trash receptacles for yard and garden trash. The two completed are at the entrance to 2 Eastway and at the rear of 23 Ridge. As part of the annual spring clean-up, the leaf vacuum made its rounds several times this week, and city employees cleaned away dirt from the asphalt path between Parkway and St. Hugh's Church.

Under contract with the city, the Washington Gas-Light Co. is extending gas service to the municipal swimming pool. Gas hot water heaters will be installed for warm showers.

HELP by Phone Project

Have you ever learned after it was too late to be of help, that a friend had been faced with an emergency situation that almost ruined the family? Perhaps you would have had the solution right at your fingertips, if you had only known.

If this has ever happened to you or if you would like to join a group of citizens who will stand ready to give emergency help when needed, this is your chance.

A group of local pastors has banded together to organize the lay people of the area into a volunteer group to give HELP to individuals or families who are faced with catastrophes like fire, sudden illness or death of either parent, need for transportation for doctors' appointments, etc. This is not an attempt to provide long term assistance or supplant any existing welfare agency, public or private. It is an effort to provide emergency assistance for families who just need that helping hand to tide them over the emergency. This is an opportunity to join in a people-to-people service that can give you a lot of satisfaction and insure the HELP that a friend or neighbor needs in an emergency.

Fill out the form and mail to HELP, either the Methodist Church or Community Church; or call 474-8551 or 474-7171.

Girl Scout Troop 95

Girl Scout Troop 95 has had many projects and activities this year. Be sure to see our window display in the Ben Franklin store. On view are articles the girls made and learned about in Sewing, Collecting, Camping and Health Aid. Also, we sent many handmade Christmas cards to the boys in Vietnam, made Valentines for our parents, had a hike and cookout, went on a roller skating trip, and are now making baskets.

We want to thank the following mothers who helped us to earn these badges: Sewing - Mrs. Crabhill, Mrs. Bodner, Mrs. Nelson and Mrs. Clute; Cooking - Mrs. Leslie and Mrs. Kelly; Hospitality - Mrs. Brown & Mrs. Donnelly; Health Aid - Mrs. Kolbe. The girls received their badges in a candlelit ceremony on March 6 which the parents attended.

On February 1, we celebrated Girl Scout Thinking Day and World Friendship Day by inviting Troop 2182 (Leader Mrs. Terry Sines) to our meeting. The girls received their World Friendship pins, and we had visitors from Japan and India tell us about their customs. A highlight of the program was learning how to dress in the Japanese kimono and Indian sari. We saw many beautiful Japanese dolls, pictures, and hand-painted clothing. Mrs. Mohanty, our visitor from India, showed us slides of her country and we sampled delicious Indian cookies. This was a day the girls will always remember.

On February 28 we entertained Brownies from different troops. They enjoyed seeing our 4 patrols in action and learned several Girl Scout "knots".

On March 10, beginning of Girl Scout Week, we attended church at Mowatt Memorial Methodist Church and Rev. Johnson had a nice sermon for us.

We're looking forward to going roller skating on Saturdays for 8 weeks. Upon completion of this course, we'll have earned our roller skating badge.

Plans are now being made for our 3 day camping trip to Potomac Woods in April.

The Leader of Troop 95 is Shirley Clute; Asst. Leader is Janice Donnelly and Troop Committee consists of Ruth Kolbe, Barbara Lawson and Cookie Chairman - Babe Willard.

Polished Performance of "She Stoops to Conquer"

by David Stern

The National Repertory Theatre's "She Stoops to Conquer", which opened at the restored Ford's Theatre Tuesday, March 26, is smoothly played and well paced. It joins the adaptation of Stephen Vincent Benet's "John Brown's Body" and Will Shakespeare's "Comedy of Errors" in the company's repertoire, and will alternate with these plays until the end of the season.

The production of a 200-year old play, even one as popular as this one, is both easy and difficult. It is easy because the demands set by early playwrights are by and large easier to meet than those set in modern, highly contorted drama. Yet it is also harder, because an old play, with its dated expressions, moods and situations, requires a special effort to bring it to life before a modern audience.

This is especially the case with humor, for what is funny to one generation often appears dull and contrived to the following one. It is to the credit of the National Repertory Theatre that its production of "She Stoops to Conquer" is funny, and more than that, is intensely alive as well. The dialogue flows smoothly and naturally, the action is marred by very little stiffness and even the old-stylish "side remarks", audible to the last row, fit in quite well.

While the credit belongs to the entire company, we especially enjoyed Geoffrey Garland as Tony Lumpkin and Susan Sullivan as Miss Hardcastle. The play is highly recommended to anyone wishing for an enjoyable evening of light entertainment.

Mr. and Mrs. James G. Maloney, of Hatboro, Pennsylvania, announce the engagement of their daughter, Patricia to Gary Lee Calhoun, son of Lt. Col. and Mrs. Arthur B. Calhoun (Ret.) of Greenbelt.

HOLY CROSS LUTHERAN CHURCH

the last move

It is said there is a painting of a chess game called "The Last Move." The devil is shown grinning at a young man. The youth had gambled with the devil for the "joys" of the world, and the next move would lose the game and his life.

The last move!

A famous chess champion studied the picture. Then he said: "I will make the young man's move for him."

A chess board was set up exactly as it was in the picture. He made the move which the artist had not seen as possible. The devil lost the game!

If such a champion had come to save the young man, not just in a picture, but in life, would he ever forget the one who saved him?

An even greater Savior has won the victory for you! And it cost Him His life!

Lent, a special time in the church year, is designed to help you remember what Christ the Savior did for you.

Come! Worship! Believe! Worship with us during Lent and on each Lord's Day.

Democrats for Peace

The Prince George's Democrats for Peace and Progress today began collecting signatures on an open letter calling on Democratic leaders of the county and the State of Maryland to see that Maryland Democrats select delegates to the Democratic National Convention who will recognize the growing awareness among the electorate of the futility of present United States policies in Vietnam and who will cast their votes for peace and progress. The group is urging further that Maryland's delegation be uninstructed.

Bruce Bowman, Acting Chairman of the newly formed group of county Democrats, in a letter to James Magruder Rea, Chairman of the Prince George's County Democratic State Central Committee, stated that: "in the absence of a Presidential primary, the electorate must have an opportunity to express its desire for the nomination of a Democratic candidate who will pledge to end U. S. military involvement in Vietnam." For information, call 577-4324.

HANS JORGENSEN NAMED PARK SUPT.

City Manager James K. Giese has announced the appointment of Hans Jorgensen to the newly created post of Park Superintendent for the city. Jorgensen, who will begin his new job on April 8, will head a three-man crew, who will be charged with the responsibility of maintaining all municipal parks and performing all landscaping projects under city jurisdiction. During the summer and for special projects, the parks crew will be supplemented by other help.

A former Greenbelt resident and long-time member of the Board of Directors for GHI, Jorgensen has been employed in recent years at the Goddard Space Flight Center as landscaper and supervisor of the grounds maintenance crew.

LITTLE LEAGUERS

by Roger Evans & Sterling Tropp
"Come to the Little League Dance this Saturday Night." Tickets can be picked up at the Greenbelt Tobacco Shop, from anyone connected with the Little League, or at the Greenbelt American Legion on Saturday at the dance, 9 p.m. to 1 a.m.

Candy sale goes on! You can still help support your Greenbelt Little League by buying candy from the Little Leaguer who knocks on your door.

There is still time to join the Little League; call Gene Kellaher at 474-4034 or "Dinks" Lloyd at 474-6936. We also have need for a Farm Director, coaches and helpers.

Fair Housing Group to Back Campaign

The Executive Committee of Greenbelt Citizens for Fair Housing met on March 22 and voted to cooperate with local interested church and civic groups in support of the Poor Peoples campaign to be opened in Washington during April. The campaign is sponsored by the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, which will conduct several workshops in nonviolence (one series in Prince Georges County) in preparation.

GCHF chairman John Unger serves as coordinator for GCHF with Prince Georges County Fair Housing, Inc., and stands ready to refer to them any complaints in regard to noncompliance with the county's fair housing ordinance in the Greenbelt area.

The committee urges GCHF members and others to study the recommendations of the U.S. Riot Commission's Report with a view to their local applicability.

Pamphlet Illustrates New Mail Procedures

An illustrated pamphlet, Mail for Servicemen, which outlines the expanded program for airlifting letters, packages and other military mail overseas at low postal rates is now available through Greenbelt Post Office window clerks. Postmaster Emory A. Harman announced.

Postmaster Harman said that "as a result of new legislation and action by President Johnson, we are now airlifting more than 75 per cent of all mail going to the military men and women stationed abroad."

A family sending a 10-pound package from Greenbelt, Md., to Vietnam, for example pays only $3.40 on a package marked PAL, while the air parcel post rate for the same package is $8.08, Postmaster Harman said.

On parcels weighing less than 5 pounds it might be more advantageous for a family to use the older SAM (Space Available Mail service), which provides surface transportation to the port of embarkation and airlift overseas. A four-pound SAM package to a European military post from Greenbelt costs only 65c. On packages weighing under two pounds air parcel post is often the patron's "best buy" for through airlift service, the pamphlet suggests.

TRAFFIC TIP

Automobile crashes don't just happen. They are caused. Almost all fatal motor vehicle crashes are caused by a violation of some traffic law. Either know and obey traffic laws . . . or don't drive.

Many a tombstone was carved by somebody who chiseled in traffic! The Department of Motor Vehicles estimates that in about nine out of ten fatal motor vehicle crashes some traffic law was violated. It isn't the cars that kill—it's the drivers!

Now — U. S. Savings Bonds Pay More Interest

4.15% when held to maturity

Higher interest on the Bonds you already own, too!

U.S. Savings Bonds are a better way to save than ever

Because now all Series E and Series H Bonds bought after December 1, 1965, will earn the new, higher interest rate of 4.15% when held to maturity. That's only 7 years for Series E — 9 months quicker than before. All H Bond interest checks will be larger beginning in June 1966.

And your outstanding bonds will earn more, too, from now on. So, you don't have to cash in your present Bonds to get the attractive new rate.

Ask about buying Bonds where you work or bank. For America's future. And yours.

The U.S. Government does not pay for this advertisement. It is presented as a public service in cooperation with the Treasury Department and The Advertising Council.

"Today, none of us can remain aloof on the sidelines."

"Today, above all, is a time for all Americans to rededicate themselves to the spirit that animated the Minutemen of Concord—who serve as a symbol of the Savings Bond program. For today, as at the founding of our nation, it is freedom which is again at stake. Not all of us are called upon to fight in the jungles of Vietnam, but while our men are there, in the front lines of a distant land, none of us can remain aloof on the sidelines. We must all do our share—in every way we can—to support our men in Vietnam. One sure way is open to all Americans through the Savings Bond program."

Electric heat by-the-yard

Its real name is electric baseboard heat. It comes in attractive, trim-lined units ranging from several feet to several yards in length, depending on need. Great for heating new or remodeled rooms, because they make it unnecessary to tap your central heating system. Electric baseboard units can be located at points of maximum efficiency. They give you complete room-by-room temperature control, so you can turn the heat up, down or off without affecting temperature elsewhere.

If you're converting a storage area to living space, adding a new room, or even if you're thinking of modernizing your whole heating system, take the measure of electric heat-by-the-yard. For a free estimate of operating costs, call our Residential Customer Department on one of these three direct-dial lines: 628-0506, 628-0389 or 628-0617. No obligation.
